Parabellum semen is no longer available after an injury and his semen has commanded as much as $800 per straw. The bottom side of this mating may be just as exciting as the top side. Our donor Damar Oh Baby 2R B064, had a dominate show career being named Supreme Champion at both the NC Jr Beef Round Up and NC State Fair in 2015. B064 has continued into production, consistently stamping her offspring with the same bold features in a complete package.

- Another product of our embryo program, out of the $150,000 Duff HD and our Annie C115 donor who delivers no matter the mating. L333 carries a lot of the same characteristics as her dam, larger outline, long bodied, and stout featured.
- Whether you decide to put a halter on this one or not, I can't wait to see this one in production. She is halter broke.
- Pictures and videos can be found on the Presnell Red Angus Facebook page.

- He is a sleep all night play golf on Sundays kind of a bull. His moderate framed package and low birth weight easily allows for you to use him on heifers. This bull has the running gear to last a lifetime and the soundness to flat get out and go. The added muscle, rib shape and stoutness to this guy will be sure to add the pounds and performance needed to bring top dollar in your calf crop. The killer side profile look and the way he balances up proportionally from either end of his skeleton will make you want to keep every heifer calf as replacements. Don't pass this one up!

2024 South Carolina Hereford Association Hall of Fame and Sale Dedication

Dr. Steven E. Meadows, born May 17, 1962, in Spartanburg County, South Carolina, would be truly honored to have the 2024 Clemson Hereford sale dedicated to his memory. This is a crowning achievement for Steve, and his family thanks each of you for the outpouring of kindness and love over the past year.

Steve was the son of Ruby Nell Leake Meadows of Woodruff and the late Marshall Theodore “Yogi” Meadows. Steve was also blessed to have gentlemen who mentored and shaped his humble beginnings in agriculture and genetics.

In his teen years, rather than play football and other high school sports, Steve began learning about the cattle industry under one of his mentors. It was in this timeframe that Steve became affiliated with the Hereford breed and always recalled his early interactions with Norris Fowler of Fowken Farms fondly, who also served as a friend and mentor throughout the remainder of his life. As time progressed, Steve developed many deep friendships with Hereford breeders throughout the Clemson community, country and world.

Steve graduated from Woodruff High School, and he was proudly a three-time graduate of Clemson University, Dr. Meadows was an animal geneticist dedicated to improving the quality and industry standards for beef cattle of all breeds. He was also the director of the Clemson University Bull Test Station.

While enjoying his career at Clemson, Steve also owned cattle along the way. He always had an affinity for red cows, especially the ones with the kind white faces and gentle eyes that we all know as Herefords. He enjoyed their easy disposition and productivity, and he spent hours upon hours seeking the wisdom behind the Trask cattle genetics that has been so influential to developing this superb breed.

Steve is remembered by cattle breeders, students, and constituents for spending a lifetime helping cattle farmers in South Carolina, as well as mentoring future generations through his involvement with the junior cattlemen’s association and other agricultural associations. He was a trusted partner, gentleman farmer, mentor, and friend.

A man of faith, integrity and courage, his favorite moments were spent with his family, especially those involving his beloved grandchildren, Harrison Gable, and Henry Gable. Dr. Meadows will truly be missed, but his contributions to the industry shall live on for generations to come.
